Global Fund launches its 2022-2025 Technical Review Panel recruitment

The Global Fund Board is currently seeking health care, public health and development professionals to serve on its independent review body, the Technical Review Panel (TRP).

The Global Fund relies on the TRP to ensure that Global Fund investments in country programs are strategically focused, technically sound and aligned to the 2023-2028 Global Fund Strategy: Fighting Pandemics and Building a Healthier and More Equitable World.

The Global Fund officially launched the 2022 Technical Review Panel (TRP) recruitment on 1 June. It welcomes applications from experts across the world in one or more of the following primary areas of expertise:

- HIV
- TB
- Malaria
- Resilient and sustainable systems for health
- Equity, human rights and gender equality, including community leadership
- Health financing and sustainability
- Pandemic preparedness and response

In addition to the core technical expertise in the above areas, the TRP also seeks individuals with crosscutting experience in the following:

- Program design, implementation and management of integrated, people-centred health services

- Monitoring and evaluation
- Innovative health approaches
- Prevention from sexual exploitation, abuse and harassment
- Challenging operating environments

The Global Fund is looking for candidates who reflect the diversity of gender, race, sexuality, disability, nationality and geographical regions of countries where the Global Fund invests.

Recruitment process

The TRP is updated every three years to align with the Global Fund's three-year allocation periods. The recruitment and selection of TRP members is managed by the Global Fund Board's Strategy Committee through a public call for applications, using an open, transparent and criteria-based process. The selection process consists of the following steps: longlist screening, shortlisting panel reviews, and final decision by the Strategy Committee.

All applicants will be informed of the outcome of their application by January 2023.
